Among Wounded in Clash of Factions Is William Grant, Labor Member of Com- mons; Military in Control

Premier Lloyd George and De Valera Hold a Second Meeting to Consider Irish Peace Plans; Leaders Hope

BELFAST, July 15.—(By Associated Press.)—The military resumed control of the north Queen street area in Belfast this morning and armored cars patrolled the streets.

At the city hall a conference was held, attended by officers of the police and the military and leading townsmen to discuss the situation.

It was announced today that reinforcements of the military in Belfast from adjoining areas was contemplated.

that between thirty and forty others were wounded. During the disturbances the mob looted a number of public houses. Ambulances were busy taking the wounded to hospitals. Among them was William Grant, labor member of the house of commons for North Belfast, who was shot in the chest.

LONDON, July 15.—(By the Associated Press).—Another meeting between Eamonn de Valera and Premier Lloyd George took place today, this discussion of the preliminary of the hoped-for Irish peace settlement lasting about an hour and a half. At its conclusion it was announced the conversation would be resumed later, probably next Monday.

man talk. In an adjoining room, however, Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland; Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary; and O'Brien, president of the Gaelic League in London, and Robert C. Barton of the Irish delegation were on hand should their presence be desired.

On leaving Downing street d

Meeting today and that he "did not think" there would be a meeting Saturday. A member of de Valera's party gave definite assurances that nothing in the nature of a deadlock or a break-down in the conferences threatened at any time.

Meanwhile Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, arrived in London today from Belfast, announcing premier this afternoon.

ULSTER PREMIER IS HOPEFUL FOR PEACE.

Asked for an expression of opinion on the Irish situation, Sir James replied: "The less said now the better." He added, however, that he was hopeful.

The official communique on today's conference issued this afternoon reads: "The

Those in close touch with the situation believe the preliminaries between the prime minister and the Irish leader have been worked out and that the next step will be consultations between Lloyd George and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier.

Downing street scenes similar to those of yesterday were witnessed at the meeting between the British prime minister and the republican leader was in progress. A large crowd awaited De Valera and cheered him as he entered, repeating the ovation as he and his companions left at the close of the talk with Lloyd George. As the conference proceeded prayers for its success were said by the crowd.

sovereign, who, he declared, was taking a very keen and close interest in the proceedings and to whose intervention so much was attributable. "We owe him," added the premier, "a deep debt of gratitude for this, one of the greatest services he has rendered." This was greeted with loud applause.

With reference to Ireland, Lloyd George said that his audience had not

"The less said the better at this stage," declared the premier, "but there is the great fact—that Mr. D. Valera, chieftain of the vast majority of the Irish race, has been in a conference for nearly three hours with the prime minister of this country discussing various methods and suggestions for the settlement of this long, long controversy—an old, bitter, wasteful feud in which there has astrous blunders, and endless opportunities lost.

"Let us trust that this one will be lost. I can only say that I am certain we both did our best to cure peace (loud cheers)."

Tugboat Crushes Man At Ship Dock

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—A
1 Mat, cashier for the General
Steamship company, residing at 1855
West street, was injured today when a tugboat crushed him between the dock and the ship. The man was crushed between a heavy tug boat
and the dock. Mat went to work shortly after noon today to see one of the company's vessels
be walked out on the pier and on his way to the superintendent's of-
ice dropped some papers on a heavy
beam several feet below the flooring of the dock.
As he reached for the papers a
heavy tug pushed against the pier
and crushed Mat between the pier
and a fractured skull, a crushed
right arm, internal injuries and a broken collar bone. He was rushed to the Harbor Emergency hospital,
where it was said he had a possible
chance of recovery.

Lost Battalion Hero Paid Final Homage

NEW YORK, July 15.—Full military honors marked the funeral today of Private John J. Monson, hero of the Lost Battalion, who died in Bellevue hospital after being taken
there on leave of absence from
the post in the regular army.
Monson died last Friday and it was three days before his body was identified. As soon as it became known that he was a man who on September 23, 1918, carried the message through the German lines that united the Lost Battalion in the regions of civil organizations
worked that fitting honors
might be paid him.
Today a column five blocks long
marched behind the casket that carried the body to the Church of the

to work to have him named as one of the American commissioners to confer on disarmament, it was learned
here today.
They have done so on the ground
that Borah, as the senatorial pioneer
on disarmament, has given the subject such deep study that he by right
belongs among the American representatives.

There is also a deeper reason. It is hoped Borah would be able, if made a member of the American
commission and given some freedom
of action, to bring about results
which could obtain the approval of the senate. Borah holds no official position of leadership in the senate,
but his friends and foes alike admit
his ability to "handle" that body.

LONDON, July 15.—Speculation
was general in official and diplomatic quarters today regarding the meeting of the League of Nations disarmament conference in Paris tomorrow, in view of President Harding's
proposed Washington conference.
The French delegation has proposed to move an important disarmament conference until after the Harding meeting, but the belief was growing
that this would meet with some opposition.

The situation was strengthened today by
a statement from Lord Robert Cecil,
representing the League of Nations Union, who ridiculed the idea that the Washington conference would
conflict with the league's disarmament
activities.

Cecil said, however, that the league welcomed Harding's suggestion for a conference on disarmament
and the Far East problem, and said the league would "congratulate
Mr. Harding on his courageous and statesmanlike initiative."

On the other hand, General Ina-raki, Japanese military representative on the league committee, declared in a statement to the United Press today that the committee was "handicapped" as a result of non-
participation by the United States.

LOYD GEORGE HOPES FOR REAL RESULTS

LONDON, July 15.—At the dinner of the Liberal Club tonight last night Premier Lloyd George alluded
to the remarkable invitation issued by the President of the United States
to discuss the issues involved in the Pacific problem, on which the future
peace of the world depends. He continued:

"I am hopeful that it will result in a pact of peace that will make the Pacific a really pacific ocean. I also trust that it will lead to a useful discussion of the problem of the armament upon which so much depends for the future of our race, because it matters not what treaties
are signed, what pacts are entered into between nations, what understandings they may establish, it makes no difference what leagues or associations they may found, if nations stand against each other for war,
war will ensue in the end."

"Therefore, no treaty is of value
unless it leads to an understanding among nations that they will not
utilize their resources, their wealth
and their strength for the purpose of developing the mechanism of human slaughter against themselves. I am very hopeful that when that conference meets it will lead to something beyond mere resolutions in favor of disarmament, and will lead
to an understanding and real arrangements, involving the keeping of those armaments within innocuous
limits."

Troops Join in 3 New Revolts In North Mexico

Herrera Leads Most Serious
Uprising; U. S. Marines
Landed At Tampico.

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—Three uprisings in the northern regions of Mexico were reported to the war office, yesterday's newspapers declare. The most serious of these is described as that led by Daniel Martinez Herrera, former chief of military operations in the northern regions of Tamaulipas, while others
are said to be headed by General Alejandro Chao, commanding a small force in the same region, and Lieutenant Colonel Horacio Munoz in San Luis Potosi.

U. S. MARINES LAND, SAYS MEXICO MESSAGE

CHICAGO, July 15.—A claim that American marines have been landed at Tampico, Mexico, from the warships now stationed there is made in a telegram dated July 9
addressed by the Federation of Railway Unions of Mexico to Socialist party headquarters in this city.

The telegram transmits resolutions adopted at the federation meeting in Mexico City July 8, in which the American Socialists are asked to join the Mexican workers in resisting any move that would lead
to war between the two countries.
The resolutions are against the attitude shown by the government of the United States in sending
men-of-war to the port of Tampico,
thereby violating the "sovereignty
of the Mexican republic," and added:

"We also protest against this act
of force which establishes a sinister
precedent in the history of international relations on this continent, inasmuch as the American warships
have disembarked American marines
in Tampico without having solicited
the necessary acquiescence of the Mexican foreign office."
The telegram is signed by Eduardo Venegas, president of the Confederation of Railroad Societies of the Mexico Republic.

THEFT IS CHARGED.

DETROIT, July 15.—Stanley Krys-
wonos, manager for Michigan of the

ment. It was alleged Kryswonos

JAPANESE SEE DANGER IN PLAN FOR CONFERENCE

Fear Expressed That Nippon
May Have to Play Lone Hand.

TOKYO, July 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Japan's answer to President Harding's proposal for a conference on limitation or armaments, which has been forwarded to Washington, while accepting the suggestion for an armament conference says the Jiji Shimpo today, makes reservations concerning general far eastern questions until more has been learned as to the scope and nature
of the questions to be considered.
What the significance is of President Harding's call for a Far Eastern conference and how much a conference would affect Japan's future are the queries dominating public discussion. The trend of this discussion creates the impression that while Japan anticipated the call and is particularly desirous of reaching a workable understanding with America, she is surprised at the inclusion of Italy, France and China in the invitation, and looks with trepidation
on an international examination of a magnitude promising to exceed preconceived ideas, into Far Eastern questions.

LONE HAND FEARED.

Generally speaking, the fear is voiced that Japan may be forced to play a lone hand and have another diplomatic battle on her hands, similar to that the at Paris peace conference, besides being placed constantly
on the defensive as regards her Far Eastern rights.

In an article which seems to reflect
the representative view, the Nichi Nichi Shimbun declares that so long as the powers practice racial discrimination against Japanese in the United States, Canada, Australia,
New Zealand and elsewhere, while demonstrating the enforcement of equal privileges and opportunities in the Far East, Japan should carefully
consider before joining in such a conference.

If, however, says the newspaper,
the powers intend to abolish the "existing limitation," and the worldwide open door principle and recognize the equalities of the Japanese
with other peoples, then the offer
should be accepted.

AMERICA MENACE.

Japan must regard as a menace,
says the Nichi Nichi, America's gradual concentration of warships in the Pacific, while the increased American fortifications in the Pacific, including those at Guam, near the coast of Japan, argues that the newspaper, show that an agreement must be reached for the cessation of fortification works on the Pacific Coast
and at the naval bases in Hawaii
and Manila.

"The invitation will have a bearing on the future history of Japan," continues the article. "We believe the idea in part represents a Great Britain's tactical method of extracting herself from her Far Eastern entanglements and also of preventing America and Japan in increasing their rivalry against Great Britain's
The militarist journal, the Kokum-
ini Shimbun, doubts the sincerity
of the American invitation and then urges the Japanese to remember how America "duped the world" concerning the League of Nations. The powers, it says, should make sure whether the United States intends to adhere to the agreements which may be reached at the forthcoming conference.

PEAN WELCOMED.

In welcoming the idea of the conference, Baron Yoshiro Sakatani,
former finance minister, said the extent of the limitation of armaments
was so closely connected with considerations of the balance of power
in the Pacific, as well as with the industrial capacities of the different powers, that the conclusion of a practical agreement would, in his view, be attended with difficulties.
President Fujimura of the Tokyo
Chamber of Commerce said that President Harding's call met the ideas of the Japanese business world,
which favored an international agreement such as would permit the reduction of Japan's big army, now
deemed necessary to cope with possible dangers in Asia, and that it would present a good opportunity for Japan to prove to the world that she was sincerely ambitious to promote peace.
From a representative of the army
authorities came this expression of opinion: "If the conference touches upon army matters the Japanese army will be ready to cooperate."

NIGHTINGALE IS DENIED RELEASE BY JUDGE SMITH

Verdict of Murder Returned After Inquest On Killing of Suppo.

middle-aged man in a grimy workman's suit, with a shirt bespattered with blood from a cut in his lip and right cheek which he claimed was given him when Nightingale ordered him into the ambulance which took his cousin to the Emergency hospital. He then said that he had been with one hand and raised the other upward, declaring at the end of his testimony:

"I believe in God and the future life, and swear by these things that I have just told the truth."

DENY BOY'S CHARGES.
In brief Gillo's version of the shooting involved a denial that he or his cousin were guilty of the acts of degeneracy which were charged against them by the boy Truffa. He said that they had merely befriended the boy as a fellow shipyard worker.

Last Thursday, they say, the boy came to them and asked to have supper with them because he had had a fight with his parents. This they allowed him to do and after supper, according to Gillo, the boy left.

Monday evening the boy came again, Gillo testified, and asked them to sell him some wine for a friend of his.

"We will pay you $10 a quart for it," Gillo said the boy told them. They refused, however, he said, and claimed they had not sold it and if they had they would not sell it.

While he and Suppo were talking with the boy at the front gate at their residence at 710 Eighth street, a man, "the murderer," came in by the side gate, staggering as though drunk. Gillo says the boy told him that was the man who wanted to buy the wine.

"I went to put him out. I did not want a drunken man about the place for the landlady is very particular," Gillo testified. Suppo came with me. The man started to go in the garage and I told him to come out so I could close the doors. Then I and Suppo started to go in the house and he stopped us and said, 'Put up your hands.' We refused and Pino, my cousin, started to move away.

CURSES 'THAT VILLAIN.'
"That villain," exclaimed the witness, rising to his feet and pointing to Nightingale, "curse him. He shot down my cousin just like that," and Gillo snapped his fingers while tears streamed down his face and moistened his blood-stained shirt.

"Then he grabbed me and he would an animal and put the handcuffs on me, and then Mrs. Barbour, my landlady, ran out, and she said, 'Why did you do that?' He is the best friend I ever had. But that villain, that murderer, only said, 'I am an officer.'"

Gillo's testimony came to a close with a formal introduction of Nightingale as the man who shot Suppo and the further declaration that he was unnecessarily cuffed and assaulted while en route in the ambulance to the hospital.

The boy, Truffa, told a story in which he charged the two men with degenerate conduct toward him. Instead, Truffa said, he had not had dinner, but that he had come to visit them on the night of the shooting, as he says he had often done, so that the cousins gave him a drink of some kind which made him drowsy.

DECIDE ON ARREST.
After Thursday night he confided in a saloonman acquaintance the details of the affair and this man advised him to tell a policeman. It was Monday evening about 6 o'clock that Truffa spoke to Nightingale at his friend's saloon and they decided to go "get the evidence on the cousins" and put them under arrest.

"They went immediately to the rooming house on Eighth street, but no one answered the door. At about 9 o'clock with Nightingale, he returned to the Eighth street house. This time, as in Gillo's story, the two cousins were standing by the front gate talking to each other. Truffa says he went up to them and offered to introduce Nightingale as a 'sailor who was looking' for a good time and had some money."

Nightingale came up the street at this time and staggered, "shamming drunkenness" as the boy said, into the side gate of the residence. It was now almost dark and Gillo and Suppo whom the boy said did not seem interested in his proposition to introduce the "sailor," went to the side of the house to order the "sailor" to leave.

Nightingale, said the boy, continued to play the role of a drunken sailor. "Why can't I come in?" he asked, the boy said. "Then he tried to rush past Gillo, still pretending to be drunk."

OFFICER SHOWS STAR.
But at this point Gillo grabbed him and demanded that he leave. Then says Truffa, Nightingale threw back his coat showing the star in the gath.

ering darkness and started to pull away, at the same time shouting, "You two are under arrest."
"Then Suppo swung at him and Nightingale ducked," the boy said. "Gillo started to jump around to get into the fight. Nightingale made a grab for Suppo and missed him and Gillo came in and tried to hit him. Then Nightingale pulled his revolver and said, 'Put up your hands. You are arrested.' The cousins answered, 'We won't be arrested. You are a drunken bum,' and Suppo made to hit the cop again and Nightingale shot him."

The boy concluded his testimony by saying that Nightingale really was not drunk, and that although Nightingale had said they could get money out of Gillo and Suppo that he was convinced all along that Nightingale merely said that to get him to show where the cousins lived.

The jury took less than ten minutes for its deliberations. According to the clerk of the inquest the jurors took no time to agree on the verdict and the major part of the ten minutes was occupied with framing the written statement of the verdict.

NTIST SOUGHT IN MYSTERY OF HEADLESS BODY

OSBURN, Ore., July 15.—A dentist of this city, who was charged in a warrant with having killed Dennis Russell, whose headless body was found under Dr. Russell's wrecked automobile yesterday, was a laborer and a near here.

He body when found under the automobile was identified by Mrs. Russell as that of her husband. Ring and shoes were found on the Russell's home a bloodstained bullet-marked hat belonging to was located. Sheriff Stamer died his investigations disclosed. Dr. Russell carried $1000 insurance on his automobile and $26,000 accident and life insurance and the dentist had been involved in an automobile accident. The automobile is known to have been driven six or eight miles of dynamite which the dentist had obtained to blast stumps on his ranch.

The machine, according to the sheriff, had been driven over a steep grade at a curve and crashed into a tree. It then rolled over a culvert and crashed into a ravine.

The sheriff expressed the belief that Russell had been killed at his home and had been taken in the Dr. Russell machine to the curve, where it was run off the road.

Rabbits Eat Off Baby Pines in Berkeley Park

COTTONTAIL rabbits have preyed on the new John Garber park in Berkeley. Park attendants complain to Park Commissioner Biedenbach that the bunnies have become so numerous and destructive as to constitute a nuisance. Recently 320 young pine trees were set out on the hillside at city expense, and within the last few days it was found that more than 300 of them had been eaten off. The custodians say they can read the marks of rabbit teeth, and they have asked that steps be taken to get rid of the cotton-tails as pests.

Commissioner Colbourn has invited Tommy Simpson, promoter, to assist in working up a system which shall keep efficient "tab" on the glove experts. The boxer, it is planned, must receive permission from the chief of police before he appears in a contest.

The "medal" for a boxing contest, it is admitted, will also be scrutinized with more than ordinary interest. The state law allows amateur contests for medals. In the past, it has been insinuated, the "medals" were often medals which bore a startling resemblance to United States coins.

BLUE BOOK OF BOXERS PROPOSED

Immediate action by the chief of police toward securing the life histories of boxers and prospective boxers was asked the chief of police by Commissioner Colbourn today.

"If we must have boxing we will tolerate no question of rowdiness," says Colbourn. "We want no men idling around making a living at that sort of thing. The state law provides for amateur boxing contests. We will all obey the state law. Amateur boxing does not mean professional boxing."

Schooners to Put On Non-Union Crews

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Reports that owners of steam schooners are planning to move their vessels with non-union crews are responsible for an extra guard on the water front.

Efforts of the unions to verify these reports have so far been unsuccessful, but it is known that a number of the steam schooners are being made ready for re-entrance into the coastwise trade.

The old Marine Federation, an organization of the various seamen's unions, is being revived today after several years, during which time it has been torn into factions. The object of the federation is to unite all of the marine workers for the cause of any one union.

SOUTHERN MAN IS APPOINTED TO CONTROLLER JOB

Ray L. Riley of San Bernardino Will Succeed John S. Chambers.

Appointment of Ray L. Riley of San Bernardino as state controller within forty-eight hours after the resignation of John S. Chambers is held to indicate the willingness of Governor Stephens to allow Chambers to leave his office by the close of this week. Chambers had named July 16 as the day he would like to leave, but offered to serve a little longer should there be any delay in the choice of a successor.

While Riley has been mentioned all along as the probable successor to Chambers, it is known that the controller would have appointed Ed Kay, assessor of Sacramento county, had the choice been in his hands. The fact that the governor named Riley, a southerner, is taken to mean that an agreement has been reached and that Chambers has been assured that none of the Chambers appointees in the department will be disturbed. Particularly does this apply to Claude B. Cooper, deputy controller, who has been connected with the office for twelve years.

D. T. Kelson of Pomona has been named by Governor Stephens to succeed Riley as state real estate commissioner. He is an orange grower and member of the Pomona board of education. Riley is a druggist. He served a year on the state water commission and later as real estate commissioner.

Special Delivery To Cost 25 Cents

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The cost of sending a special delivery letter is to be raised from 10 cents to 25 cents.

Postmaster-General Hays in making the change is doing so on the supposition that the general public will prefer to pay the higher charge for better service.

Autoist Cleared of Blame for Death

SANTA CRUZ, July 15.—Ludwig Hoegh, of Selma, Cal., was exonerated by a coroner's jury here of the death of four-year-old George Swanson of Sacramento, who was run down by Hoegh's automobile here last night. The verdict of the jury was that the accident was unavoidable.

RAY L. RILEY of San Bernardino, who has been named State Controller to succeed John S. Chambers, resigned.

TAUSZKY BURIAL SERVICES TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Funeral services for Edmund Tauszky, former court commissioner and general counsel for the Associated Oil Company, were held this afternoon from a local chapel. Tauszky succumbed to an operation.

A grand past president of the district grand lodge of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, he was a leader in Jewish affairs. Tauszky graduated from the Hastings law college. He was active in the local Bar Association. For several years he was connected with the law firm of Wallace, Greathouse & Elandring. In 1887 he was appointed court commissioner, holding the position for several years. Besides being a past grand master of Mount Moriah Lodge of Masons he was a member of the Masonic, Press and Union League clubs.

Tauszky won a wide reputation when he headed the legal forces of Theodore Sutor in the famous Sutor and Comstock tunnel cases and won his pleas before the courts after years of litigation.

Bay Metal Workers Will Fight Proposed Wage Cut

Union boilermakers in the San Francisco bay region announced today that they had rejected a proposal to reduce wages in the shipyards and contract shops by 10 per cent on August 1. Other unions are expected to call meetings to vote on the proposition.

While the shipyards and shops are running on the open shop plan, union executives say that most of the workers still are affiliated with union organizations. This is denied by the shipyard and shop operators. Wage reductions, which it declares necessary if competition from other states is to be met and payrolls are to be kept alive and growing, were ordered today by the California Metal

Trades Association to become effective on August 1. The new schedule averages about 10 per cent below that adopted on November 24, 1919. The action of the Metal Trades Association has been expected for some time. When the Union Construction Company, the other day, announced the reduction to become effective August 1 it was said that it was in line with the one ordered by the association although the organization, at that time, had not made public its determination. The new rates conform with those on the Atlantic seaboard and which became effective in April of this year.

25,000 AFFECTED.

Accompanying the new schedule, which will affect 25,000 men in the shipyards and metal plants of the bay district, was the following statement: On and after August 1, 1921 the basic and hiring wage scale paid in the San Francisco bay district by members of the California Metal Trades Association will be in general the same as that paid by the Atlantic coast shipyards, which is about 10 per cent lower than the basic scale November 24, 1919.

In reducing the basic wage scale we are taking the step that the Atlantic coast shipyards took last April.

This wage reduction has been postponed as long as possible. It is now an absolute necessity on account of the keen and growing outside competition which must be overcome before there can be any general industrial activity in this district.

Great manufacturing plants established throughout the country during the war are fighting now to maintain themselves permanently. Their principal weapon is low production costs. They are seeking business wherever it offers and

WOMAN WILL CITE ATTACK AS CAUSE FOR KILLING MAN

Blows Head Off Brother-in-Law As He Lays Down for Siesla.

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Speculation was rife today as to the action of a coroner's jury in whose hands will rest the fate of Mrs. Nettie Platz, wife of a rancher near Acton, 60 miles north of here, who, according to her own story, walked into the room of her brother-in-law, Ernest Platz, and blew off the side of his head while he apparently lay asleep after he had attacked her.

Her husband, returning home and hearing of his wife's action, expressed approval. "You couldn't have done anything else," he assured her calmly.

Friends of the woman today predicted that she would not be held, as she is widely known and favorably regarded in the neighborhood in which she lives. After the shooting she was taken to the county jail. According to the story told by Mrs.

Platz, the attack by her brother-in-law occurred in the presence of her children, shortly after her husband, Ned Platz, left the house for a remote corner of the ranch.

MURDERER REST.

Exhausted after the attack, Platz, it is asserted, went to his room upstairs and lay down upon the bed. He was lying on his back with his eyes closed when Mrs. Platz entered the room and, at close range, blew off the side of his head with a shotgun.

The brother-in-law was 30 years of age and unmarried. It was stated today that he had once thrown a solution of lye in his mother's eyes, trying to blind her. He was generally regarded in Acton as of irrational tendencies.

"Ned (her husband) left about 8 o'clock in the morning," said Mrs. Platz in reciting the story of the assault and the killing, "and Ernest, as usual, was lying in bed upstairs. When Ned was out of hearing Ernest came down, with only his night clothes on. Without any preliminary he threw his arms about me and let me know what his intentions were."

FOUGHT AND SCREAMED.

"I fought and screamed, but there was no one to hear except the children, and they, poor things, were so frightened that they huddled outside, not knowing what to do."

"When he released me he went upstairs. He called down from the top. 'If you tell Ned about this I'll finish both of you.'"

"What shall I do?" I asked myself. "I'll Ned and certainly bring on a

Chinese Barred From Mexico by Federal Decree

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, July 15.—Immigration authorities received instructions today that passports for Chinese are not to be granted or issued.

The order was issued by the Secretario de Gobernacion (Interior Department) at Mexico City.

The order was not expected, as from the time of the riot here early in May over the arrival of the party of Chinese, the government has intimated that it intends a policy of discouragement to influence foreign labor.

HOMES DESTROYED CROPS RUINED BY NEBRASKA FLOOD

Aged Woman Loses Her Life As Wall of Water Carries Away Cabin.

ALLIANCE, Neb., July 15.—One life was lost, bridges were washed away, livestock drowned and several homes destroyed by a cloudburst which struck near Andrews, Neb., yesterday, according to reports received here.

Mrs. John Barrett, 90, living alone on a small farm, was killed when her home was demolished. The body was recovered later in the day, lodged in a tree a half mile from her ranch home.

The town of Crawford, on the White River, is preparing for a wall of water which may come down the stream some time today. Telephone and telegraph wires are down for several miles along the railroad. Crops are reported to have sustained considerable damage.

FILIPINOS STILL NEED PROTECTION

CEBU, P. I., July 15.—A number of Filipinos prominent in business and politics in private interviews told members of the Wood-Forbes investigating mission that while they desired independence for the Philippine Islands at some future date, they believed the Philippines were as yet unprepared to assume independence under precarious financial conditions existing. Public speakers, on the contrary, generally favored an immediate but protected independence.

At Dumaguete and Siquil, speakers urged a protected independence, and at the latter town a Democratic party held a parade, bore the inscription: "We want independence. We are confident we can correct faults of the present administration." In Negros province only one speaker asked independence, the others criticized the existing government. They complained that justice was badly administered, that the price of sugar was low, and that open gambling was permitted by the police.

A speaker at Sibulan asserted it was impossible to obtain justice in the courts, that elections were corruptly conducted, and that open gambling was permitted by the police.

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Houlihan

For those who enjoy the high Sierras and do not mind steep grades and long pulls, Huntington lake, located in the mountains back of Fresno, is one of the rare spots in California.

Situated at an elevation of 7,000 feet, here is found some of the best fishing in the state, fair accommodations at a good-sized hotel, and all the fun which only the mountain country can provide.

The trip was made last week by Eb Wells of the Weaver-Wells Company in a Studebaker Big Six. The story of the journey is best told in his own words. "He says: 'The trip to Huntington lake, to my mind, is one of the best in the state, especially if you enjoy fishing. It is not an easy trip, although the roads are fine, for the grades are long and steep and demand all of the driver's attention. It is exactly 256 miles from Oakland, sixty-five of which lies in the mountains, with the last three miles very steep. This final pull is from 20 to 25 per cent and there is no let-up. However, we made the entire distance on the high and intermediate gears. Some idea of the grade can be seen from the fact that the power company which secures its water from the lake hauls all of its supplies and machinery from Cascade, the end of the railroad, up the hill by an electric winch. It is at Cascade that the real climb begins, and I would warn anyone taking the trip to be sure that the car they use is provided with plenty of power and good brakes. Both will be needed. 'The best fishing grounds is in the three streams, which are reached by power boats provided by the company at $4 per trip. We had an enjoyable outing, spending three days fishing and tramping around the mountains. 'Leaving the lake, we made the

Southern Teachers Lose Pension Right

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—Teachers of the Southern Branch of the University of California, formerly the Los Angeles Normal School, lost their right to the benefits of the teachers' retirement salary act when the Normal was made a part of the University by an act of 1919 Legislature, according to an opinion by Attorney General U. S. Webb to Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Webb holds that even though the teachers paid into the retirement salary fund $1 per month from 1913 until the Normal school was made a branch of the University in 1919 they are not now entitled to the benefits of the retirement salary act. Trip home in eight and one-half hours, which is fast time, but possible on account of the excellent condition of the roads.

Class War Urged by Communist Council

LONDON, July 15.—Resolutions declaring it a necessity that class war be intensified in all countries were adopted by the Congress of Communist Trades Unions at Moscow on Monday, says a dispatch from that city to the Daily Herald, organ of labor. The vote of the congress on the resolutions was 232 to 22, and this action was taken, according to the dispatch, with a view to "ending capitalist control of labor and consequently the political power of capitalism, by establishing closest unity between the various sections and forms of the revolutionary labor movement."

The congress also decided to take steps to unite all trade unions into one fighting organization with the Congress of Communist Trade Unions as the international center. Close contact would be established with the Third International by joint representation on executive committees and in joint conferences. It was asserted the connection thus established would prepare for revolutionary action.

SLAYING GETS DEATH SENTENCE

FORT MAURRAY, Alta., July 15.—Albert LeBeau, a Slave Lake Indian tried by a traveling court that sat far north in the Mackenzie territory, was found guilty of the murder of his wife and child and sentenced to death, according to word received here yesterday. The trial was held at Fort Providence.

ACT TO LIFT WOOD PULP BAN. WASHINGTON, July 15.—By unanimous vote, the House foreign affairs committee reported yesterday a joint resolution, already passed by the Senate, for appointment of a commission to confer with the Canadian government relative to cancellation of a Canadian order in council restricting exportation of pulp wood to the United States.

Revision of U. S. Court System, Plan

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Reorganization of the Federal judiciary system was discussed yesterday at a conference attended by Attorney General Daugherty, Chief Justice Taft and the special committee of judges and district attorneys headed by Judge John B. Sater of Columbus, O.

Daugherty said that a plan was being worked out for a scientifically organized judicial system which would be framed as a bill for presentation to the president. He indicated that consideration was being given to legislation permitting the assignment of Federal judges from one district to another to clear up temporarily crowded dockets.

SCHOOL-TRAINED LABOR MAY SHUT OUT JAPANESE

Plan Fostered Among Placer
Fruit Growers Meets
With Favor.

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—(Replacement of labor in the fruit packing industry through an economic war to be waged by white
students who shall be graduated from California schools with thorough preparation for exploiting California's leading industry was the plan formulated by white residents
of Placer county in their announced determination to break the hold of the Japanese on the fruit industry
of Northern California. "War to the end" was the slogan adopted by the residents of the county.

This preparation will be obtained
by way of special classes in fruit
culture to cover every branch of the industry. Such courses, it is planned, will be offered in state schools
of all branches of the elementary schools to the colleges.

The first victory came last night,
when Job Wood, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, approved the plan and declared it to be
"the first real solution of the Oriental labor problem I have yet heard."

WILL SOLVE PROBLEM.
Wood's approval of the plan was obtained following receipt of a letter
submitted to him by H. D. Pottinger,
secretary of the Roseville Chamber of Commerce. Pottinger's letter to Wood followed adoption of a resolution by the Roseville Chamber of Commerce asking that consent of instruction in fruit packing and culture
be installed in the schools. Such training, the letter points out, will effectively solve the Oriental labor problem as the Japanese are unable to compete with trained white men
in the industry and will be quickly
supplanted by the whites who have specialized in the work.

"Section 1550 of the penal code
authorizes the formation of such classes," Wood said in commenting on the letter. "All that is required is that the city or county school boards
approve the installation of such classes, as I am sure they will. It will be a very effective and peaceful way of supplanting the Japanese and bringing the industry back into the hands of those who are responsible for its growth."

CLASSES PERMITTED.
Pottinger estimates that a six month course will be sufficient for fruit packers, while preparation for every branch of the industry could be had in a regular four year high school course.

Wood said that the law would permit such classes being held in the packing houses or the fruit fields, as the case might be, if it was found that such instruction would be more practical.

Grand Ball Closes S. P. R. S. I. Sessions

With public installation and
grand ball following in the ivy
ballroom of the Hotel Oakland, the twenty-first annual convention of the S. P. R. S. I., Portuguese women's club, held in California, came to a close last night.

Mrs. M. C. Simas, 1107 Eighth
street, was installed as supreme president, succeeding Mrs. M. C. Enos Freitas of San Leandro.

Other officers who were installed
last night are: Vice-president, Miss Leopoldina Rodrigues, Oakland;
secretary, Miss Mary A. G. Lemos,
Oakland; treasurer, Mrs. Isabel G.
Luz, San Leandro; mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Mary A. Navaira, San Leandro; marshal, Mrs. Emily Viery,
Berkeley; social committee—Mrs.
Mary L. Dias, Oakland; and Mrs.
Mary Andrade, San Rafael. The retiring president, Mrs. Mary C. E.
Freitas of San Leandro, was elected
a member of the board of directors.

Lower Prices Must Come, Says Hoover

CHICAGO, July 15.—Manufacturers who resist the tendency to lower prices and organized labor
bodies who refuse to accept wage
cuts are the chief factors holding up
complete after war commercial and
economic recovery in the country,
Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, told the National Association
of Real Estate Boards here today.

"These groups, which are not cooperating now, will find themselves
in cold water in the end," Hoover
said. "And in the meantime, they delay recovery and contribute to unemployment among all."
The "administration," Hoover said,
is giving every energy to the removal
of burdens on commerce."

Almond Men Ask Protective Tariff

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—The American almond industry, "the survivor of foreign competition and serve home markets must have adequate tariff protection," said a telegram sent by Director Hecke of the State Department of Agriculture to Chairman W. C. Hawley of the subcommittee of the House ways and means committee last night, it was stated today.

Dr. Anna S. Cox, Mills Professor, To Wed Saturday

Of unusual interest in academic circles, not only on the Pacific coast, but on the Atlantic coast as well, is the announcement of the marriage of Dr. Anna Shipley Cox, professor of classical literature at Mills College, and Howard Haines Brinson of Philadelphia, Pa. Invitations were sent through the mails yesterday. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized Saturday morning, July 23, at 11 o'clock, at the Priests' Meeting House, College Park, San Jose. Both Brinson and his fiancée come from well-known Friends families of Philadelphia, the parents of Dr. Cox being Charles Ellwood and Lydia Bean Cox of San Jose, and her sister, Miss Catherine Cox, a member of Stanford University faculty. Dr. Cox's grandparents were the late Joel and Hannah Bean, well known to a large circle of literary friends. Both Brinson and Dr. Cox spent last year in Germany, where they were employed under the Friends Society for relief in Central Europe. Dr. Cox returning to Mills College in January and Brinson continuing his work until June of this year. During the spring Dr. Cox has been a speaker at several of the "Hoover dinners," the proceeds of which were given to relief work in Central Europe under the direction of the Society of Friends. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized without a minister, according to the special dispensation allowed Friends in the United States. Following the marriage, to which 100 guests have been invited, a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents in San Jose. Professor Cox is a graduate of Stanford University and her fiancée a graduate of Haverford College, Pennsylvania, and Harvard University.

Cards from Walnut Creek revealed this week the betrothal of Miss Helen Margaret Kiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chresten P. Kiel of that place, and Martin Carl Kidd of this city. Miss Kiel made her home several years ago in this city. She is an accomplished young woman and a sister of Mrs. Henry Tibbs and of Mrs. Sydney Hopkins of Berkeley, the latter a bride of last June. Both Miss Kiel and her fiancée were educated in local schools. The wedding will take place September 3, but whether the ceremony will be on the Kiel ranch or at the home of the bride-elect's sister here is as yet undecided. Several informal affairs have been given in her honor since the engagement announcement. Kidd is a son of Mrs. J. H. Leary of this city, and is engaged in business across the bay.

Mrs. Warde Sorricks and her husband and little daughter left for Chicago and Minneapolis, where Mr. Sorricks will attend a convention.

Cards announcing the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Foster Young have been received. The little one has been named Bradford Woodbridge Young, and was born June 18.

BABY CLUB CONVENES. At the home of Mrs. Samuel S. Shepard, Mrs. Martin Campbell was hostess to the members of the Baby Club this week. A score of prominent matrons make up the personnel of the club.

WEDDING AT FRY HOME. At a pretty home wedding Saturday evening, Miss Vera Brewer and Frederick K. Fry, both of this city, were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fry in Thirty-fourth avenue. The home was elaborately decorated for the occasion, an arch of sweet peas, greens and wedding bells forming an artistic setting for the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Alonzo G. Near.

MRS. WARDE SORRICK, who with her little daughter has gone east with Mr. Sorricks on a business and pleasure trip.

performed by the Rev. Alonzo G. Near, whose recent wedding was an event in peninsula society, are at present enjoying their honeymoon at Wawona. Mrs. McNear, who was formerly Mrs. Emma Butler Bergen, is a handsome woman and possesses much charm of manner.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and crepe de chine, with a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. Bride's roses and lilies of the valley were combined in the bridal bouquet. Mrs. Mabel Codegna, sister of the bride, wearing French blue georgette and carrying a bouquet of bridesmaid roses, was the bride's only attendant. Miss Mildred Schouten, cousin of the groom, played the wedding march, while George B. Grant served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a supper was served to fifty relatives and friends. After a honeymoon trip to Alaska, the couple will make their home in Stockton, where Fred is employed by the Standard Oil company.

The Presbyterian church in San Leandro will be the scene of an unusually pretty wedding tomorrow, when Miss Eileen, Sidonie Force will become the bride of Edward Gerald Hoyt. Rev. Monroe Drew will read the ritual, and S. B. Force, father of the bride, will give his daughter in marriage. One hundred close friends and relatives of the bride couple will be guests at the ceremony and informal reception to follow in the Sunday School room adjoining the church. Ferns, shrubs and pink and white blossoms are to be used in the decoration of the church.

E. M. Polley will be best man. Mr. Richard Brown is to attend the bride as matron of honor, and Miss Dorothea Force, sister of the bride, Miss Alice James, her cousin, and the Misses Alice and Helen Verne, cousins of the bridegroom, will be bridesmaids.

The camp is situated two miles from Camp Curry, under Cathedral Spire. Other infantry outfits are also encamped there, Allen said.

All Legion posts in the county will take part in the celebration August 13.

PERSHING SEEKS CONGRESS' AID

WASHINGTON, July 15.—General Pershing took measures today to establish better relations between the army, general staff, which he is now head, and congress. Accompanied by his executive assistant, Major-General Harbord, and announced, he called on the military committee of both houses, exchanging pledges of co-operation with chairmen and members in an effort to make the army worthy of the nation. "We are asking that you give us the advantage of our experience and knowledge of military affairs and we shall do likewise. We shall endeavor to carry out your will as expressed by the law and hope for most friendly relations." The general added that the "latch string" of the general staff headquarters was always out for committee members who can approach the high standards of Dr. Anderson quality of workmanship. Chairman Wadsworth, answering, said: "The committee will be delighted to co-operate in every way with the army staff."

Saving Teeth Saves Life

Good teeth signify good health. Clean teeth and a clean life mean perfect health. While, on the other hand, neglected and decayed teeth cause bad breath, infected gums and softening or sluffing tissues from which pyorrhea and other dreaded diseases begin. Bad teeth are the root of intestinal indigestion and stomach disorders, causing more serious ills and distracted health, and often death. Sound teeth, sound mind and sound body is the desire of all mankind. Therefore we invite you to have your teeth inspected at once.

HISTORY PAGEANT TO BE PRESENTED IN MOSSWOOD PARK

Dancers From Playgrounds and Other Organizations Will Perform.

Old California traditions will be portrayed in a "Pageant of the Hidden Treasure," tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in Mosswood park, under the auspices of the Oakland Recreation Department. Scores of dancers from the playgrounds, campfires, schools and women's clubs will make up the cast. Mrs. E. A. Hollington will direct the kermess. An orchestra, under the direction of Elbert Cowan, will give the accompaniment.

Three episodes will mark the story. The degree of Pocahontas of the Improved Order of Red Men will participate in the Indian group. Pioneer of '49 and the gold of California, including fruit, flowers and metals, will inspire the program of dances. Groups of high school girls will contribute numbers under the direction of Miss Linda Clute.

Special attention is being given to the color in the costumes for the all fresco fete. Miss Helene Bassett is in charge. The public is invited. A second performance will be given in Mosswood park on Tuesday afternoon next in compliment to the visiting delegates to the annual convention of the Physical Education Association of America.

S. F. Incendiary Fire Menaces Three Flats

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Fire which menaced the three-flat building at 1844 to 1848 Folsom street at 3 o'clock this morning, is believed by the police to have been of incendiary origin, and the fire marshal is conducting an inquiry. Roy Evans, night watchman for the Illinois-Pacific Glass company, saw flames leaping from the roof of the structure and turned in the alarm. Mrs. M. Kouch and family and Andrew Chiller and family occupy Nos. 1844 and 1846. All were aroused and took refuge in the street. An investigation disclosed that the blaze had started in the unoccupied upper flat at No. 1848 and the firemen found a quantity of rags saturated in coal oil. The flames were extinguished after one room had been burned and the roof considerably damaged.

Hats, Movie Star, Millinery Agent Figure in Court Suit

JACKIE SAUNDERS, heroine of the films, who is being sued for $50,000 by wife of San Franciscan whose stunning hats figure in the charges.

The hats which have perched so jauntily on the head of Jackie Saunders, motion picture star, and which have aided her in some measure toward winning popularity, are figuring as flowered and ribboned displays in a suit for alienation of affections brought against the actress by Mrs. J. Wardle Cohen of San Francisco.

Mrs. Cohen, who has filed her suit in Los Angeles and who asks $50,000 for the hurt that she says has been done to her feelings and pride, says that Cohen, representative of a wholesale millinery house, has kept the pretty movie girl crowned in the newest glories of his art. Further, she charges in her complaint she played detective and traced Cohen and Miss Saunders to a fashionable apartment at West Ninth and Alameda streets in Los Angeles and there found Miss Saunders garbed in a very thin nightgown and an apron.

Other charges made by Mrs. Cohen in her complaint are that she took the motion picture star to the beach resorts and has been frequently in her company.

Cohen and Miss Saunders deny the charges with vehemence, and so does E. D. Horkheimer, former motion picture director, who is the husband of the actress.

"This woman has been annoying Miss Saunders and myself for some time," said Horkheimer, but we have paid no attention to it. I know Cohen very well and we have had business and social relations for some time. We will do everything in our power to secure an early trial, so we may prove how utterly groundless the action is.

Said Miss Saunders according to a Los Angeles despatch: "Mrs. Cohen's statements are so ridiculous and so false it is superfluous to deny them."

After the Cohens had separated in October, 1919, they met in San Francisco to discuss a reconciliation. Cohen, in attempting to kill himself, shot himself in the left thigh, the wife pulling the revolver down as he was about to fire at a vital spot. He was taken to a hospital, but the shooting failed to terminate in a reconciliation. Mrs. Cohen recently brought suit for separate maintenance and he was ordered to pay her $100 a month.

Of the suit against Miss Saunders, Cohen says: "It is not an act of truth in the allegations nor any justification for attempt to slander and injure Miss Saunders."

Mrs. E. M. Goodwin Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"For about four years I was troubled with large, red pimples on my face and neck. They festered and scaled over and were very sore. My face was a sight. I tried different remedies but nothing helped me. I began using Cuticura Soap and after I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. E. M. Goodwin, 1234 F St., Sacramento, California.

When used for every-day toilet purposes Cuticura Soap not only cleanses, purifies and beautifies, but it prevents many little skin troubles if applied by occasional use of Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal. Do not fail to include the exquisitely scented Cuticura Talcum in your toilet preparation.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—Fredrick, a mate on the steamship Irlis, was severely beaten on a downtown street here yesterday evening by men whom he alleged to be striking seamen. Architect Says He Will Sue Spreckles

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Willis Polk, well-known San Francisco architect, announced today through his attorney, Sidney Robertson, that he would shortly bring suit against Rudolph Spreckles and other directors of the First National Bank for $29,750. According to the story told by Robertson, the plans for the present First National Bank building were drawn by D. H. Burnham in 1906, who later disposed of them to Polk. In 1913 Polk completed the bank building at Post and Montgomery streets. The new bank building was erected after the same plans and Polk, according to Robertson, declared he deserves 7 1/2 per cent of the cost.

WESTERN PACIFIC TRACK LAYING IS ALMOST COMPLETE

Trains Expected to Be Run ning Into San Jose in Two Months.

SAN JOSE, July 15.—Work on the laying of the tracks of the Western Pacific Railway Company from Millerton into this city is being rushed with the greatest possible speed and the finish of the big task is now in sight, according to a statement today by engineers in charge of the laying of the rails. A few more weeks, they say, and the rails will be completed and within less than two months the trains of the Western Pacific will be entering this city.

The work was being pushed with vim and vigor. The line today and grading has been completed as far as Coe avenue. The tracks have already been laid as far as the Berryessa road, to the northeast of the city. In the next few days, of rapid work, the engineers state, will finish the laying of the rails to the western side of the city.

R. O. Summers, local contractor, has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new passenger depot at the freight depot in San Jose and work on this job has already started. It will be rushed to an early finish, the engineers state.

The big question in the minds of the general public, relative to the incoming of the Western Pacific, is where the passenger depot for the new railroad will be. Officials of the company have refused to make any statement on this point and there has been nothing transpired which could be taken as any indication of the probable site.

It is believed that negotiations have been under way to obtain a union depot of the Southern and Western Pacific railroads, to be situated either to the south of the city, on South Main street, or north of the city, adjacent to San Jose depot and Southern Pacific. The general public administration and the city administration neither favors this plan but nothing in the way of definite statement from either source is obtainable at the present time.

City Manager C. B. Goodwin has been daily anticipating a call from the city fathers to remove the tracks and to outline their plans for removing their rails from Fourth street.

JAPAN IS CAUTIOUS

Assurances have been received from all four nations addressed—Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, that they will accept an invitation from President Harding to attend a conference on the limitation of military and naval armaments. Only Japan seems to contemplate some reservations as to the matters eligible to discussion by such a conference. In her response received at Washington yesterday she only mentions her willingness to enter into a conference on limitation of armament; she ignores the reference in the President's note to issues in the Pacific.

It is quite likely that Japan will make it appear that her omission in this regard was unintentional and that she will later signify her consent to a joint discussion of Pacific questions which exist between the Japanese and American governments. But it is clear that she would like to avoid this course if possible.

Japan is not to be blamed for her disinclination it would seem, as The Tribune has previously stated, the better course for the United States to confine its disputes with Japan to negotiations with Japan, and not to admit England, France, Italy and China to the discussions. But the diplomacy of the State Department at Washington seems to be otherwise: it contemplates the placing of the Pacific problems on the table before all the great powers. In view of the fact that the three European countries were induced to take cognizance of the Pacific in the secret agreements which Japan sought and obtained in February and March, 1917, covering the division of the German possessions in the Pacific, this may be the more effectual course.

Great Britain entered into the secret agreement of 1917 with well laid design, but France and Italy did so rather lightly. They had no direct or specific interest. They merely aided Japan in stacking the cards against the United States and China at the Paris peace conference. Since they are parties to the secret pacts of treachery against America, it is proper that they should accept with alacrity the invitation of America to attend the disarmament conference.

And there is no excuse available to Japan for declining to discuss at an international conference on limiting armaments these questions that disturb the Pacific basin, if the United States desires them to be discussed. For there can be no denying the fact that the advisability, the whole question of safety in any agreement this country may enter into for the limitation of naval defense, is closely and inextricably involved in these Pacific questions. Japan in the Pacific Islands, in China, Korea and on the Pacific Coast of Russia needs definition. That definition must come in clear, categorical terms. The world must know what Japan purposes to do and what of her aggressive programs she is ready to modify or abandon. It is particularly important that America know Japan's intentions.

AVOID DELUSIONS

As the naval appropriation bill has been emasculated by the House of Representatives, it allows for the maintenance of the navy and for partially carrying out the program of new construction, $410,000,000. This is $94,000,000 less than the figures approved by the Senate and $14,000,000 more than carried in the measure when it first passed the House.

As previously stated, the House rejected all the Senate proposals for the provision of urgently needed accommodations for the new Pacific fleet, not only San Francisco Bay but at San Pedro, San Diego and the Puget Sound ports as well. So far as the attitude of the House is concerned, it views the Pacific Coast as if there were no larger naval force here than in 1914 and no larger force needed. It ignores altogether that the Pacific fleet, comprised of over half the tonnage of the navy, has been created.

This attitude is of course harmful and dangerous. It is not alone neglect of Pacific Coast defense, but neglect of national defense. There need be no surprise if it should develop that one of the large influences in raising up this spirit of obstruction in the House is to be traced to commercial and social interests in Atlantic Coast sections. The situation requires attention from those who are charged with looking after the interests of the Pacific Coast.

The new naval bill also has reduced the enlisted personnel of navy. It provides for an enlisted force of 106,000 men in the navy and 21,000 men in the marine corps. The personnel is too small to keep all the ships in commission; approximately one third of the more important units and one half of the smaller craft must be in "ordinary," with only care takers. The Senate bill provides for about 130,000 men in the navy, but its idea was rejected. Only one important feature which the Senate added to the House draft of the bill was acceptable—the creation of a bureau of aeronautics in the Navy Department.

It is necessary to the national safety that the attitude displayed by the House in the present session of Congress be reversed. Whatever may come from the proposed conference on the limitation of armaments, there will remain the naval forces already possessed and those in course of construction. Great Britain and Japan will not consent to reduce their present naval strength, regardless of what the United States might be willing to do. Let there be no delusions about this matter, for delusions are dangerous.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Natural depreciation and inevitable losses have so reduced the number of books in the Oakland Free Library that, even considering those purchased during the year, there were 500 fewer books at the end of the last fiscal year than one year ago. This situation is made clear in a report which the librarian presented to the board of library directors.

In this same year the number of persons holding cards in the library increased by more than 1,000 and the number of books circulated increased from 911,814 to 964,788, or by 51,974. Here, then, is a situation in which the people are making substantially greater use of the public library, and evincing a desire for still greater utilization, but in which the library accommodation is decreasing. With the number of persons using the library on the increase, the number of books is decreasing. There is little encouragement to be drawn from such a situation.

About $10,000 was spent last year for library books. This year a request has been made on the budget making officials for $24,000 for new books. There are numerous demands for increases in appropriations of public funds. There must be denial all along the line, for the tax burden has become alarmingly, harmfully heavy. But, assuming that in these stringent times the people of Oakland do not care to improve the library facilities, they can hardly be credited with a willingness to see them slip backward. Public libraries occupy an important place in our life. A library without books, or which is permitting its stock of useful and desirable books to become depleted, is failing in its purpose.

The question of an adequate stock of books in the Oakland library is one that interests the whole people. There may be immovable obstacles to an allowance from the public treasury to buy new books this year, but the need cannot be ignored. And if there are any citizens inclined to public benefactions for the service of their local community there would seem to be a fair outlet for them in connection with this problem.

The tragedy at Modesto yesterday, in which an intrepid and competent aviator and a manufacturer of aircraft, and two companions, gave up their lives is specially to be regretted. The cause seems to have been among those latent defects which cannot be discovered until revealed by a fatal accident. The machine was being flown carefully and with eyes strictly on the business objective. There is cause to grieve when lives are lost in such an enterprise, a special emphasis to grief that is not experienced when useless aerial gymnastics is being attempted.

One woman kept fifty-four pet cats and three dogs. When her neighbors complained she thought them a peevish and cranky lot, but the judge told her that if she cared so little for her human associates to take her animals further away from human habitation.

With all they are saying about the mistakes of the California Highway Commission in the construction of motor roads, it must be admitted that the commission has given the motorist some of the most picturesque and difficult detours to be found anywhere in America.

There is the suggestion that the League of Nations should have been called the League of Nations. Well, there is no use in being too obvious; that is why dentists call their headquarters dental parlors instead of drawing rooms.

It is to the credit of confirmed bachelorhood that nine out of every ten of its votaries fail to waste sufficient time to become adepts in the latest dance steps.

After a prolonged and lamented absence the watch dog seems to have returned to the United States Treasury Department.

There is such a thing as luck, of course, but it follows preparedness most of the time.

NOTES and COMMENT

The big Atlantic steamship companies, foreign owned, are encountering the new immigration law in a way that they must find to be quite annoying. Instead of loading up to capacity over there and dumping without question over here, they are kept of their immigrant passengers, and when the quota for the month has come ashore, the excess is turned back, which necessitates their transportation to the port whence they went aboard. It is quite different from the old free and easy way.

Judge Morrow has banned a court custom that seems to have been considerably followed. Many who have been fined in liquor cases have been granted stays in order to pay their fines in installments. The Judge says this is beyond the authority of magistrates of the United States district courts, and hereafter bootleggers will do well to have a saving fund to meet fine. The disclosure that these dealers are not invariably the ready money persons that they have been credited with being is noteworthy.

How the law is closing in, shutting off our liberties and inalienable rights, is disclosed in the experience of Miss Hix of San Francisco. She was arrested for wading into the lagoon at the somewhat disheveled Palace of Fine Arts and picking a tiny A strain police judge disapproved and warned, but did not punish. Wading in lagoons was indulged in without question in the good old days of personal freedom.

A nation-wide fight against landlords who ban children in flats and tenements is announced by the National Brotherhood of Operating Pottery. It is a matter that has been considerably discussed, but just what has stirred the operative pottery to take action doesn't appear, unless they are more earnest parents than the general run.

Another shipping board vessel which recklessly ventured forth on the wild and raging sea has been heard from in the characteristic way. It has put into Guam for repairs. These hurly-burly ships that were built on the cost-plus plan would be perfectly safe if they were kept behind a bulkhead.

News from New York is to the effect that baseball is looking up this year over last year, despite the "black sock" business, the hard times and everything. To July 1 there had been 166,000 more paid admissions than there were last year at that date. Oakland can verify this reported improvement. For the first time in weary years the Oaks are bringing home the bacon.

President Harding has made a world hit with his proposed conference on disarmament. That such conference will be held is reasonably certain, and the effect it has been predicted will dole the League of Nations. It is simple when compared with the travail over the latter, and its simplicity is reassuring.

Colonel Harvey in a plug hat and riding in a Ford diver through the streets of London may jolt Britain, but it can lead to no international complication. It is about the safest sensation that the Colonel can indulge in.

It seems to be just one thing after another with this man Erolinski. His celebrated booze entanglement was quite recent. Last week he was indicted on charges concerning a stock transaction, and this week he got married. Some people like to see something doing right along.

A man in San Francisco has gained the fleeting fame of getting into the news by stepping on a policeman's foot. He was brought into court and claimed that it was an accident, instead of justifying himself by maintaining that he had to step somewhere.

The Sacramento Bee is still implacable: "Volstead, a seal in a New York aquarium, is dead. Too bad it is a poor inoffensive animal instead of an act of Congress."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

The olive crop of the State is being reported as decidedly shorter in some districts than that of last year, while in other sections, particularly in the south, the probable yield is said to be very large in comparison with the previous crop. It is difficult to state at this time just what sized olive production will be had this season.—Oroville Register.

Chicago chief of police has ordered that patrolmen cease wearing celluloid collars because well-dressed men don't do that. It would be dangerous right now, because doubtless many of Chicago's cops, not regarding themselves as primarily models for magazine collar ads, are hot under the collar, and celluloid is highly inflammable.—Palo Alto Times.

Now that it's all over, it may as well be admitted that the main trouble wasn't so much with what Admiral Sims said as with the way he said it. His speech was needlessly insulting to a large number of Americans, but evidently what he meant was that nobody had any business trying to make the Irish question a domestic issue in this country.—Stockton Independent.

It is not likely that any choice President Harding could have made for the Chief Justiceship of the Supreme court could have pleased so many people as the choice of Mr. Taft. The former president has few enemies and many friends. His popularity has grown since he left the presidency.—Martinez Gazette.

Nearly all the Republican electors have been suggested as candidates for Governor. It seems to be George Stephens against the field.—Woodland Democrat.

NEAR-SIGHTED AUNT JANE DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS ONLY BATHING BEACH PARTY

KURDISH HOSPITALITY

We arrived at Ishi's tent and found him at home. He welcomed our father very cordially invited him to sit on a rough wooden stool and seated himself on a block of stone at the front of his tent, ready for a comfortable chat.

His wife and his young daughter, a lovely maid of seventeen, came forward and took us most hospitably inside the tent. They offered us thick, delicious cream with wheat-meal scones, prepared on the spot before our wondering eyes. The wheat was put between two round millstones and ground in the primitive eastern fashion; then the meal was taken, cut, stirred through a hair-sieve and kneaded with milk. The dough was cut into equal-sized pieces and rolled out thin, to be baked on a flat stone, which had been heated beforehand over a wood fire behind the tent. The whole process was so dexterously performed that in less than a half hour's time everything was ready, and the small round table, laden as a stool, upon which the dough had been rolled out into scones, was covered with a clean, home-woven napkin and carried to the front of the tent, laden with fresh cheese, thick cream and a pile of the hot scones, for Ishi and his visitor to eat. For us, there was spread on the bare, uneven ground, inside the tent, a heavy woolen carpet, over the center of which another napkin was laid, with saucers and cream and milk in copper vessels. Round this rustic table we all knelt, the two women presiding, and we were urged in a kind, engaging manner, to help ourselves. We used pieces of scone for spoons to dip into the one central copper dish of cream, and we drank of the same large bowl of milk, lifting it with both hands carefully to our lips and passing it round to the others.

All the furniture of this hospitable abode consisted of two long boxes of cypress wood, painted green, with grotesque pink designs. These chests, which evidently contained the clothing of the family, were placed one at each side of the round tent. The remaining side spaces were occupied by bags of grain, kitchen implements, a large copper churn and caldrons, pots, water-cans, milk-pails, saucers, pans, bowls, all of copper, clean and shining; the beams of a loom, as antique as Hagar's own old-fashioned loom, and a pile of sheep's-wool and camel-hair carpets of all colors and sizes, used as chairs as well as mattresses and blankets.—From "A Tent Pitched Among the Kurds," by Lady D. To-Tids, in Asia Magazine for July.

ONE BLESSING—"POTATOES!" In the midst of the general growling it is meet that someone should arise and announce a thanksgiving. The justification is well as the opportunity is here. In the one article of food which almost more than any other fills the stomachs of the world there is plenty. Potatoes! Now the potato is not an object of beauty or adulation; it has only a passable bloom, and its form is prosaic, but when it comes to real substance it stands as one of the great things of the world.

It is the statement of L. H. Bailey, an authority on agricultural matters, that "one acre of potatoes frequently furnishes as much human food as ten acres of wheat." The potato production of the world rises to the extraordinary total of five billion bushels. Twelve of a thousand and even more are on record. In our country it leads all truck crops.

In Europe the potato crop is doing as much as any other agency to save the people. It is a godsend to the stricken lands in America it is far less so. Great is the potato! It is not lovely, but it fills the bill.—Baltimore American.

About YOUR HEALTH

What "a Bleeder" Is—A Problem in Heredity

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

One of the rare diseases is known as "haemophilia." In this condition there is constant danger of serious and uncontrollable hemorrhage. The victim is called a "bleeder."

A trifling operation, for instance, the extraction of a tooth, has been followed by excessive and, in some cases, even fatal bleeding.

"It is a strange inheritance. I say 'inheritance' because it is transmitted from one generation to another. Oddly enough, this tendency seems to afflict only the males of a family. The females escape."

Another singular thing about haemophilia is that it is transmitted by the female to her sons. It then skips a generation because it is not passed from male to male. The females are not afflicted, but they inherit it from the father and transmit it to their sons.

It is rare indeed to find a bleeder without being able to establish the inherited nature of the trouble.

The blood lacks certain elements or qualities essential to perfect clotting. Without complete coagulation the wound does not close, and the bleeding continues.

Nosebleed is the most common experience of the bleeder, but haemophilia. There must be a history of repeated experiences, and they must date back to childhood.

Animal or human blood serum has been injected under the skin as a possible cure, or rather to control the bleeding. Likewise, injections of defibrinated blood have been used for the same purpose.

As a matter of precaution it is well to inquire about the bleeding habit before undertaking any serious operation. This is at least one time when "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

JACK LONDON IS NEGLECTED SAYS CRITIC

BERKELEY, July 15.—Jack London is America's most slighted author, according to Professor Henry M. Bland, of the San Jose Normal School, who is in charge of a course on California authors at the University Summer Session. Professor Bland was an intimate friend and a literary associate of London. He says London was "California's most distinguished and most beloved son in the field of letters." He continues: "There has been an organized opposition to the recognition of London's literary genius and an insidious propaganda against his personal reputation even today, nearly four years after his death."

Better Fire Protection For Alameda Is Sought

ALAMEDA, July 15.—Alameda's lack of fire protection, due to insufficient water supply, in the Webster street district, is to be the subject of a conference next week between City Manager Clifton E. Hickok and President E. O. Edgerton and General Manager George H. Wilhelm of the East Bay Water Company. Hickok will insist upon action by the water company to relieve the situation. Alameda's water, both for domestic and corporation use, is supplied by two mains under the estuary, one at Park street and one at High street. West of Park street the pressure gradually diminishes through friction loss until at the extreme west end of the city there is not enough pressure to raise a stream of water through a fire hose ten feet above the ground level. City Manager Hickok will point out to the water company officials

APARTMENTS WANT VANS REGULATED

An ordinance similar to one in San Francisco, compelling truck and dray men to adopt regular hours for apartment house moving was introduced in the council today at the request of the Apartment House Association.

The city attorney and commissioner of public health and safety were requested to confer concerning an ordinance. The recent comment sent by the Atlas-Imperial Engine Company to the council, asserting that Oakland will get the worst of the present projected bay bridge project, was given comment today by Marion Campbell, construction engineer who notified the council that "the point is well taken" and will be placed before the bridge engineers.

The Atlas-Imperial protest said that, while a subway goes under the bay on the San Francisco side and allows free passage of ships there, the long bridge would make Oakland's commerce and hamper the operation of ships in any but a straight line. A ship bound from Oakland to Alameda, it was alleged, would have to go almost to San Francisco before making the turn.

The council granted free use of the auditorium to the carmen's union for a mass meeting at 2:30 on the morning of July 17. The financial statement of the Parr Terminal Company, showing that Parr has made certain expenses in constructing a warehouse was verified by the council.

A petition by the Diamond Improvement Club, asking that a portion of East Thirty-seventh street be changed to Exchange avenue, was referred to the street department.

PAY TEACHER MORE, URGES WILL C WOOD

BERKELEY, July 15.—A general discussion of the subjects of Americanization, and vocational guidance formed the principal points of interest in the final day of the annual convention of the California High School Teachers' Association, which closes this evening at the University of California. Professor A. D. Shuster of the University of Texas led the discussion on Americanization with Dr. C. A. Prosser of Minneapolis delivering an address on "Vocational Guidance of the Schools."

In an address at one of the section meetings, State Superintendent of Schools Will C. Wood declared that despite the increase in teachers' salaries they were not yet receiving sufficient compensation. He continued: "Teachers' salaries are not set adequate. If prices were now on a 1911 scale the salary that teachers now receive would be sufficient, and we could expect to secure teachers properly trained and able to give our children the things they have a right to expect. At present we cannot do this."

"There is too much pessimism about the foreign trade condition, according to Professor Frank R. Hutter, trade commissioner of Washington D. C., who spoke to the teachers on the subject of Trans-Pacific trade. He said a great many misconceptions or 'half-truths' had been spread and the slump in business had been exaggerated. The speaker displayed two charts, one showing trade statistics in dollars and cents, and the other showing statistics in tonnage or volume."

Virginia Convention Raises Color Line

NORFOLK, Va., July 15.—Three negroes only sat as accredited delegates in the Republican state convention here yesterday, although several contested delegations of negroes were barred from the convention.

Police guarded the doors to the convention hall and turned away the negroes under the leadership of Joseph R. Pollard of Richmond, who was a candidate for United States Senator on the Republican ticket last year.

The negroes immediately held a meeting and announced that a "lily white" convention would be held in Richmond September 5 to nominate a state ticket of their own.

Wholesale Murder Plot Traced by Burned Papers

One of the most treasured bits of evidence which traces the "crimo museum" of the Parisian police is a pile of ashes, black and crumbling, preserved under a glass bell which prevents the fragile particles from being blown away by a chance draft. For here is the clue which led to the solution of one of the most sensational murder cases ever known in the French capital, a case which bore more than a passing resemblance to the "affair of the frozen death" in Buenos Aires.

The first reference to the plot came to the attention of the police, not through the usual channels, but by way of a chance remark dropped by a leading member of the medical fraternity in the hearing of one of the examining magistrates. Someone at the club had inquired why the physician was looking so worried, and he had replied, under the seal of secrecy, that he had not had more than half a dozen hours' sleep during the past week.

And then, he added, "is not the worst of it. The truth of the matter is that the entire city appears to be threatened by an invasion of one of the most deadly ideas known to medical science—typhus. There have been more cases of this malady reported during the month than in the two years previous, and if its ravages are not checked before long, it is likely to develop into an epidemic of the most alarming nature."

RESTRICTED IN AREA.

"The strange part about it, too, is the fact that it appears to be restricted in its attacks, though scattered in its area. Individuals here and there throughout the city have fallen victims to it, while others in the same house with them have escaped. The fact certainly is that it has been a long time, however, is the worst of the lot. Here an entire family was wiped out. Six of them succumbed in three days, and the only person left alive in the household was the servant girl—and she hasn't shown a trace of it."

"Is there such a thing as a person's being able to transmit the disease and still remain immune from it?" inquired the examining magistrate.

"No, typhus is entirely different in that respect from typhoid," replied

the physician. "There are several cases on record where persons have acted as unconscious carriers of typhoid germs without apparently suffering from the malady themselves. But typhus is too deadly for that. Once it strikes, the odds are nearly ten to one that it will kill."

"How, then, do you explain the deaths of members of an entire family and the immunity of the servant girl?" came the query from another of the group.

"I can explain it," admitted the doctor, "I merely state it as a fact. It's one of the contributing causes to the look of worry which you commented upon a few minutes ago."

But the more the examining magistrate thought about the affair, the more he concluded that the case presented elements which it might be wise to bring to the attention of the detective bureau. Accordingly, on the following morning he requested a thorough report of the names of the typhus victims of the past month from the one family who fell victim to the past lives of the victims, with a view to determining whether or not there was any possible connection between their deaths.

Detective Martias, to whom the case was assigned, accepted it merely as a matter of routine, but he had not long before he realized that there was at least the framework for a murder plot gigantic in its inception and deadly in its execution.

"On the surface," he reported a few days later, "there is no connection whatever between the lives of the persons who have died of typhus. With the exception of the six members of one family who fell victim to the disease, none of the dead were bound by the slightest of mutual ties, either social or financial. But my investigation developed one connecting link which attracted my attention upon the entire affair—all of the deceased were at least acquaintances of a certain Eugene Dubois, and eight of the fifteen left bequests to him in their wills."

LOST MUCH MONEY.

Martias' disclosure had the effect of starting the entire available force on a search into the past history of Dubois—a search which developed little in the way of direct evidence, but suggested much. The suspect, as they discovered, had lost considerable sums of money in a crash during the past year, and was still heavily in debt to a number of brokers. He had, however, paid off several of his creditors, and was now living in a state of luxury, which contrasted strongly with his former meager surroundings. Thus, of course, was to be explained by the bequest which he had made to each of which he had promptly cashed at a discount through commission agents who made a specialty of this type of finance.

The family which had been wiped out had been Dubois' cousins, and their money, which would have ordinarily descended to the wife and then to the children upon the death of the father, reverted to him. It was not, however, until Martias began to investigate the strange exemption of the servant girl from the ravages of typhus that the solution of the mystery as to how the germs of the disease had been transmitted. All the members of the family had been in the habit of using certain brand of bottled water, and it was by the case early in the morning and left outside the rear entrance to the house. The maid, however, never drank this water, and as Martias found, admitted that it would have been easy for anyone to substitute bottles of water which had been tampered with for those in the original case.

READS BURNED SEETS.

But Dubois evidently feared that some suspicion of his activities had reached the ears of the police, for when Martias entered his room in his absence, he found nothing incriminating—save for the fact that a sheet of papers had been recently burned. Creamery butter, Cane Sugar, and holding their breath, the light discovered that they were pages torn from a medical treatise on germ diseases, and the chapter heading was "Typhus."

A further search located the book from which the pages had been taken, concealed under a pile of rubbish in the cellar, together with fragments of food and other debris, a paratus which Dubois had used in his experiments. The suspect was arrested as he was attempting to leave the cellar, and, as the physician whose remarks had precipitated the whole affair stated a little later: "The typhus epidemic ceased instantly—which is the best possible proof of Dubois' guilt."

The man that sells Coffee that brings customers not only in Oakland, but all the surrounding towns. Every pound sold carries a positive guarantee. Forty years' experience. How Coffee grows—Coffee or "Gift of Heaven," as the Wise men of the East called it, is the fruit or seed of a small tree that grows in the tropical countries. The coffee tree may grow as high as twenty feet, but on plantations it is kept pruned down to about six feet, so the harvest may be in easy reach. There are few sights more beautiful than a coffee grove in full bloom, the pointed leaves somewhat resemble laurel, the white flowers like a five-pointed star, suggestive of jasmine, fill the air with fragrance in alluring promise of the fruit to come. SPECIALS—Sugar has advanced three different times in the last few days.

NATION SCORED FOR ITS NEGLECT

WASHINGTON, July 15.—"The record of neglect and failure" in the care of the country's sick and maimed ex-service men was declared by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, in the senate today to be a disgrace to the nation.

Walsh vigorously opposed the Penrose motion to recommit the soldiers' bonus bill to the senate finance committee as suggested by President Harding.

"I do not propose to deny the fact that we have failed miserably to speedily and properly extend adequate hospital facilities for the care and treatment of our disabled soldiers," Walsh said.

"Although the hour for final consideration of the bill is fixed by unanimous consent at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the vote is expected to be delayed by efforts of both Republican and Democratic senators to bind the committee with instructions."

Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, has an amendment pending which would instruct the committee to rewrite the bill and report it back to the senate not later than January 1, 1922.

LATEST NEWS OF INDUSTRY, TRADE AND FINANCE

STORES REGRET LACK OF STOCKS TO MEET DEMAND

Over-Retrenchment in Detroit—Other Industry and Business News.

By PHIL S. HANNA.
ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Retail merchants are leading the business recovery in this section and many are bemoaning the loss of possible business which has been lost through depletion of stocks of seasonal goods. In other lines, however, there is a feeling of relief and there seems little indication of abandonment of hand to mouth buying.

The general financial situation is clearing each week as banks record increased deposits accompanied by gradual liquidation of loans. Bankers are still retreating to those which will tend to stimulate business and are not yet ready to make any large loans.

Northern Michigan cherries are coming into this market in large volume and huckleberries and raspberries are selling in $6 for a quart crate. Dry weather is injuring the sugar beet prospects.

By J. N. FINING.
ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Strong efforts are being made to revive building activity by reducing materials costs. Sand, gravel, cement and steel prices have been cut but workmen refuse to accept a 10 to 20 per cent wage reduction.

Farmers still are carrying large loans and have been unable to liquidate them and the country banks are calling for all the money they can get. Manufacturers and wholesalers are extending special credit to retailers in the country districts.

By J. N. FINING.
ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Some divisions of the cotton goods market have been materially strengthened in the last few weeks. Demand for demand for export to the Far East. The call has been largely for branded narrow sheetings and similar merchandise and several important deals have been consummated with Chinese houses. Chinese importers have shown a willingness to pay a premium of from an eighth to a quarter of a cent for leading brands which have been long established in the China trade.

By J. N. FINING.
CLEVELAND, July 15.—The ore carrying trade on the Great Lakes continues exceedingly quiet, reflecting the dullness in the steel and iron industries which has been marked by a sharp decline in prices. Shipments of ore are to this port from the Head of the Lakes for the first six months of this year totaled only 6,371,227 tons compared with approximately 12,000,000 tons for the same period last year.

By J. N. FINING.
SEATTLE, July 15.—Building materials have shown a marked price decrease. Labor, however, still continues to receive high level wages. Carpenters are asking $1 to $3 a day for the building of houses. The demand for lumber is still strong. Sash and door knobs have shown a marked price increase. Lumber for concrete reinforcement is 20 per cent lower and bar iron and shapes of various kinds show declines as high as 50 per cent. Poles show a price increase of 20 per cent. Lumber for concrete reinforcement is 20 per cent lower and bar iron and shapes of various kinds show declines as high as 50 per cent. Poles show a price increase of 20 per cent.

By J. N. FINING.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 15.—Auto dealers here are anxiously awaiting confirmation of a report that the Federal Reserve bank has announced production of a four cylinder car to retail in the neighborhood of $1000 and intended to compete with cars of that price. If the new car is built, it is believed here that the big Buick factory at St. Louis, which was dismantled before it ever got into quantity production, will be reopened.

By J. N. FINING.
NEW YORK, July 15.—Employers in the building trades have notified the building trades union that they will accept a cut of $1 a day in wages. Employers declare that if this cut is not accepted a cut of $2 or $3 might be inevitable at the end of the year. The present wage agreement does not expire until January 1, 1922. An answer is expected Monday.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The American Locomotive Company has booked orders for fifty-one locomotives for foreign countries. Of these thirty-one will go to Japan, nine to China, six to Trinidad and five to Japan.

CLEVELAND, July 15.—The Ohio Body and Blower Company, makers of auto bodies and ventilating systems, reports that business has been the best recorded this year. The plant is operating 80 per cent of capacity.

BOSTON, July 15.—Increased bookings by shoe manufacturers for fall delivery has induced some makers to make more rigid purchases in special lines of leather. Increased business in leather is expected when the new season begins.

NEW YORK, July 15.—An intensely dull period is being experienced in the leather market here. Holders appear disinclined to make any large purchases. The market is expected to be very quiet for some time.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

Weekly report of Oakland bank clearings for the six days' business ended July 14 showed that the total for this city now is only $316,662 below the same week last year, an important improvement inasmuch as that last week's report showed the total $690,000 under the corresponding week in 1920. Direct comparison of the two weeks this year is not equitable since one was a six, the other a five-day business week.

There was, too, another important indication of Eastbay awakening today in a report of increased building permits, an increase which became particularly significant with the settlement of the builders' strike. Last week the total of building permits was $278,194, this week $299,194. Statistics on the simultaneous increase in these two directions following upon the heels of reports of last week which also were marked by their increases over two weeks ago, are to be taken as fairly good evidence that an upward tendency has now taken definite hold in Oakland.

Reporting the bank clearings the Oakland Chamber of Commerce shows that for the week ending July 14, 1921, $1,160,000 of business was done, $1,176,704 for the week ending July 7, 1921, $9,478,223 for the same week in 1920, $10,165,385.

The detailed report of this week's building permits issued today from the office of Thomas W. Ryan, acting building inspector, shows:

1-story dwellings	25	$42,225
2-story dwellings	15	15,446
3-story dwellings	1	1,200
1-story factory	1	7,500

1-story brick service sta.	1	2,000
1-story brick dwelling	1	920

Total	122	$299,194

By J. N. FINING.
ST. LOUIS, July 15.—The Twelfth District Reserve Bank was $213,708,000 over the corresponding week in 1920, reported today. This was against $208,351,000 the preceding week and $2,214,000 on the same day last year.

The bank reported total resources of $428,000,000 against $456,483,000 last year.

The simultaneously issued combined report of the twelve districts showed that the ratio of total reserves to deposits and reserve notes held by the banks was 35.8 per cent in the week ended July 13.

Total gold reserves in all reserve banks for the week ended July 13, 1921, were $1,160,000,000, compared with $1,176,704,000 the preceding week and $2,214,000,000 last year. Tribune Bureau Replies To Query About Outlaw

Outlaws and mountains came in for a shower of queries recently. Among the numerous questions along those lines that were received by The TRIBUNE'S Information Bureau was the following:

"Did Frank James ever serve time in the state prison of Missouri?"

In reply to the following letter was received from the warden of that prison today:

"In replying to yours of June 14, I am pre-suming that you are making inquiry about Frank James, the Missouri outlaw and the brother of Jesse James. If this is correct you are advised that Frank James never

at any time served time in this prison.

Another query just came in as to which mountain is the higher, Mount Whitney or Pike's Peak.

Mount Whitney is the higher. Here are their relative altitudes: Mt. Whitney in California, 14,501 feet; Pike's Peak, Colorado, 14,147 feet.

The TRIBUNE'S Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

The Bureau is open every day except Sunday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Oakland Recreation Camp Held Model for Nation

Oakland Recreation Camp on the Tuolumne river may become the model for the nation as well as other municipalities according to Stephen H. Maher, director of National Parks. Maher was a visitor to the Stanislaus forest camp during the week. He inspected the camp layout and organization. Particular merit was found in the numbers accommodated, the possibility of development in the future, and the low costs.

Maher is quoted as declaring that although the vacation project of the Oakland Recreation department is yet in an experimental stage, it will guide other municipalities into practical ways of encouraging recreational use of national forest and mountain areas.

The Oakland camp is divided into three sections—children's, alternating boy and girl groups in fortnight periods, adult, where families may remain for any time. Automobiles, for parties furnishing their own transportation and equipment.

The present capacity, exceeding 200, will probably be increased to 500 next season.

The Pirates' Den has been founded by the Bloody Pirates of Tuolumne, 25 yards below the adult camp. A fallen log across the river forms the collecting agency, according to Grant Kelly, camp and pirate historian. He writes:

"Our total receipts up to date of unransomed articles are: one perfectly good wash basin, two decrepit combs, one shredded bath towel, a piece of soap (It floats—too fast). In spite of the value of the above listed articles, I get more of a kick watching people pursue their vanishing belongings."

"One lady was rinsing a cerulean blue bathing suit when it escaped. She plunged boldly into the river to her boot tops, reached for it and missed. She stepped, slipped, and sat in the water. She decided to try again. She had better luck. When last seen she was wearing the bathing suit while her clothes hung on a spreading willow tree."

Code Telegram Clue In $25,000 Robbery

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—Automobile bandits who yesterday held up Leland Bigbee, bank messenger of the Northwest Trust and State Bank robbing him of $25,000, are believed by the police to be men operating from Chicago.

A copy of a code telegram to Chicago is in the hands of the police. The sender is known to have been in the city for three months, studying the habits of bank messengers.

When the man was ready, police believe, he sent the telegram summoning his companions from Chicago. No trace of the four bandits had been found today.

Court Ruling Lifts Ban on Street Work

Proceedings toward widening Exposition avenue are now possible as the result of yesterday's Superior Court decision giving certain lands in the city for $4500, according to Leon Gray, acting city attorney, who says the city can now widen this street from 60 to 80 feet.

The case has been under discussion in city offices for more than six years, but only recently was it brought to an issue. It is believed that action may be delayed for some time.

Patrolman Tires of Job of Cat Feeder

BERKELEY, July 15.—When City Attorney Cornish went on a vacation he left orders for the police to feed his pet cat at 1223 Dwight way. Patrolmen H. P. Lee and O. W. Wilson were assigned to the job.

This morning Patrolman Lee asked Sergeant C. A. Becker to relieve him of the detail. Lee said that in the past two days ten cats have moved into the Cornish back yard at meal time, and because of a similarity of the cats, he is unable to pick out the Cornish cat from among them.

They look better and
play harder in Kute Kuts

Any little girl in Kute Kuts looks just too
lovable to be scolded for climbing the fence
or "shooting the slides."

Kute Kuts are built for the hardest kind of wear: sturdy materials, stoutly sewed, "every stitch guaranteed"—reinforced at wear points
—red metal buttons that are on "for keeps."

She'll be proud of her Kute Kuts, with the narrow red piping, handy patch pockets, high waist band and neat little pleats. The peg allows full freedom for body movement, too.

Kute Kuts come in a variety of materials
and colors. They're made for small boys as well, and may be had at practically all stores.
If your dealer can't supply you, write us.
We'll tell you where to buy them—and
you'll find them priced so reasonably!
